IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Along the trail are numerous manmade and natural obstacles known as "features".

The features vary in difficulty and their condition can change constantly due to usage, weather, and other factors. It is your responsibility to inspect these features before you use them.

You control the degree of risk you will encounter in using these features. Your approach speed, line, balance, and other factors will affect your ability to successfully maneuver over the different features. Ride within your own abilities; do not attempt to ride on features unless you have sufficient ability and experience to do so safely.

Begin riding on smaller features and work your way up to the more difficult features as your ability and experience level improves.

Bypass trails are provided for features located along trails labeled with green difficulty.

Only one person may use a feature at a time.

Always ride in control and within your ability level.
